

Salary: Negotiable

Based: London

Director of the Insurance Fraud Bureau

The Insurance Fraud Bureau (IFB) is a unique organization at the cutting edge of fraud prevention.

The IFB is a not for profit organisation funded by the insurance industry, specifically focussed on detecting and preventing organised and cross industry insurance fraud.

Undetected general insurance claims fraud total £1.9billion a year adding on average £44 to the annual costs individual policyholders face, on average, each year. Insurers don't think that customers should be paying for fraud, and the Insurance Fraud Bureau (IFB) has been set up by them to disrupt and co-ordinate action against people committing organised insurance crime in the UK.

Insurance Fraud Bureau

The role

As Director of the IFB you will have the overall responsibility for the smooth running of the organization, it's staff and it's delivery, as well as the IFB's external promotion and growth.

Responsibilities include:

- Working with industry, government and justice system stakeholders to develop an active organised fraud risk management and control philosophy across the UK marketplace
- To act as the industry spokesperson on the countering of organised cross industry fraud
- Build stakeholder confidence in the value of the IFB by providing additional value over and above what insurers could achieve individually.
- To promote the sharing of intelligence to optimise reduction of losses, including fraud
- To explore new areas of data use, and recommend additional data sharing initiatives on behalf of the industry as a whole
- Grow the IFB's offering and membership base

The Candidate

- An expert understanding fraud
- Proven track record of achievement in a senior financial crime role
- Adept at building and maintaining client relationships
- Credible authority and strong leadership skills
- Superb presentation skills
- Flexibility and adaptability
- Strong listener and empathetic
- Lateral thinker
- Charismatic
- Highly self motivated
- Ability to maintain a clear vision of direction
- Up to date knowledge of the proceeds of crime act
- Experience of developing a team
- Reasonable level of numeracy
- Has a network of own contacts within the industry

Contact: Martin Cullarn (Executive Search Manager)

m.cullarn@rcs-corp.co.uk 02071736210

